GAS COMPANY WILL MOVE INTO NEW OFFICES

The Arlington Gas Light Company will spend tomorrow moving from their present quarters in the post office block to the offices and show-room at 299 Broadway. The new building, of which they have taken a long term lease, was built especially for their use, and so is exactly fitted to their needs. They expect to be ready for business there on Monday morning, and in the afternoon will hold an informal "opening."

The Searchlight Club will meet January 10th, with Mrs. Arthur A. Lawson. The speaker will be Dr. Edward A. Lincoln of Harvard. His subject, "The Mental Testing Movement in Education."

ARLINGTON GIRLS WILL HOLD SCOUTS' OWN ON SUNDAY

Arlington Girl Scouts will hold a Scouts' Own, Sunday afternoon, January 6, at four o'clock, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall. Every Girl Scout is expected to be present in uniform. Girl Scouts from Lexington, Medford, Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham and Medford have been invited to join in this meeting. Mrs. Dorothy Dean Sheldon will speak and the Girl Scouts of Troop Six will give a candle lighting ceremony. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

BACON FAMILY REUNION DURING THE HOLIDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo A. Bacon and children, Roderick, Harvey and Jean, of Charlottesville, Va., spent the holidays with Mr. Bacon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bacon, of 18 Russell terrace, Arlington. Mr. Bacon is manager of the Hotel Monticello at Charlottesville, the leading hotel of that city. Master Roderick Bacon is a cadet in the Norfolk Union Military Academy, a United States military preparatory school, and expects to enter West Point Academy in two years.

On Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bacon of Andover, Mass., and their children, Elinor, Flora, Dorothy and Edith, came down and spent the day, making it a real family reunion, and the first ever enjoyed with all the grandchildren present. Harvey Bacon is Boy Scout Executive in the Lawrence district.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN PIGOTT OBSERVE 40th ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John Pigott of 11 Russell street, reached the fortieth anniversary of their marriage on Wednesday, January 2, at which time a quiet observance was made by their family and friends.

They were married in Arlington, January 2, 1889, by Rev. Fr. Shahan, at the rectory of St. Malachi's parish, now St. Agnes, and have always lived in Arlington. Mr. Pigott is proprietor of the Pigott's Filling Station at the corner of Russell and Mystic streets. Previous to establishing himself in business here, he was in the town's employ.

Mrs. Pigott, who, previous to her marriage was Mary Ann Farrington, is a charter member of the Ancient Order of Hibernian and also a member of the St. Malachi Court, No. 81, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters. Mr. Pigott is also a member of the Foresters. They have five sons, Andrew, John, Jr., Joseph, Charles and Thomas, who is a member of the local police force.

ARLINGTON LOCALS

The Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank was incorporated sixty-nine years ago, and this year its depositors believe in starting the new year right, for on January 2, 1929, two records were broken. The deposits of the bank passed the $10,000,000 mark, and the total number of depositors reached 19,347. For the last two and one-half years this bank has paid dividends at the rate of five per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Wyman of 135 Lake street, celebrated the fifty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on December 29th, with a dinner at the Parker House, followed by a theatre party, complimentary to their children and grandchildren. The exact date of the anniversary is January 8th, but as one of the granddaughters, Adelaide Sherman, was to return to school the third, it was celebrated on an earlier date. Covers were laid for seventeen.

YOUNG MEN RESCUE SKATER FROM WATERS OF SPY POND

Ralph Swanback, twenty-five years of age, who lives with two aunts and a sister at 70 Magnolia street, went skating on Spy Pond New Year's afternoon. He ventured on the cove near the Wyman Farm, where the ice is always the last to freeze, and broke through into the water. Thomas Cox, the son of Mrs. Julia Cox of 96 Lake street, saw the accident, and bringing a ladder from the Middlesex Sportsman's Association club house, strove to rescue him. His brother, William, with a group of companions, rushed to aid in the rescue, as did also Officers Piggett, McLean and Albert Ryan.

Swanback never lost consciousness, and aided his rescuers in their work, all of whom, however, received a wetting. The patrolmen who responded to the telephone call for aid on reaching the ice, went as far as was possible on foot, then lying on their stomachs, wormed their way along to where Cox was making every effort to reach Swanback. In the meantime, someone turned in a fire alarm which brought apparatus and more help to the shore of the pond, including Chief Daniel B. Tierney, Deputy Chief George Corbett, Lieut. Merwen, Charles O'Neill, James Keane, Daniel Conchlin and John Walsh. Swanback was almost overcome when rescued from his half hour in the icy water. He was removed to the home of Mrs. Rose O'Connor at 40 Pond View road, where he was revived after about one hour of hard work by firemen and police. He was later removed to the Symmes Hospital, where his condition improved under treatment.

NEW YEAR'S TWINS BORN TO MR. AND MRS. HENNESSEY

So far as can be ascertained, the first New Year's twins to be born in Arlington, were girls, born to Mr. and Mrs. John Hennessey, of 71 Warren street, on Wednesday, Jan. 2, at the Symmes Arlington Hospital. Mother and babies are doing nicely. Mrs. Hennessey was Miss Mary Mulcahy of this town.

THE REASON

There were many who were awakened during the early morning hours of New Year's by the heavy trucks used by the Board of Public Works in the collection of ashes and rubbish. The situation occurred because of the fact that the appropriation for this work was exhausted December 30th. The men reported, however, on Monday morning, and were told to return at mid-night, when they would begin work. The treasurer has the power to borrow on anticipated taxes for the next year. This insured their pay.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY A. KIDDER MARRIED HALF A CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Kidder of 17 Addison street, reached the fiftieth milestone in their wedded life on Monday, December 31st. It had been the intention of the couple who have resided in Arlington for forty-eight years, to issue invitations for a large reception in recognition of the event, but circumstances, over which they had no control, made it impossible to carry out the plan. However, there were close friends, who were determined that the notable anniversary should not go unobserved, with the result that some fifty called during the afternoon and evening of Monday, to extend congratulations to this genial couple, among them many from the Orthodox Congregational church, where Mr. and Mrs. Kidder have been active ever since coming to Arlington. Among the company was also a delegation from Menotomy Council, 1781, Royal Arch Chapter, where Mr. Kidder is entering his eighteenth term as secretary, and also from the Menotomy Royal Arch Chapter, of which he is a past high priest. High priest Norman Willard and Mrs. Willard were among the callers. Also Chief of Police Thomas O. D. Urquhart and Mrs. Urquhart, Rev. Edward Allen Morris and Mrs. Morris.

The couple, who received informally, were assisted by their older son, Herbert L. Kidder, secretary of the Norwich Union Indemnity Company of New York, who came to Arlington for a few days' visit with his parents. In the dining room there was a beautifully decorated and frosted cake, which the couple shared with their guests, together with ices and creams. Mrs. Kidder's niece, Mrs. George Howland, of Winthrop, and grandniece, Mrs. Donald Foster, assisted in the dining room.

The rooms were filled with beautiful flowers. Notable was a basket of fifty pink roses, which came from a few of the members of the Boston Wool Trade, with a personal greeting from its secretary, F. Nathaniel Perkins, also flowers from the Brad-

H. Bowler, 88 Webster road; S. V. Keatley, 57 Webster street; K. S. Hendricks, 64 Windsor street; A. I. Riley, 75 Windsor street; Mrs. M. J. Sullivan, 18 Winter street; and Mrs. B. Beckonert, 58 Webster street.

The prizes in the local contest give the winner a choice of the following electrical appliances: Electrical Percolator Set; General Electric Cleaner Junior (with attachments); Electric Bridge or Table Lamp; Telechron Clock; Johnson Floor Polisher; Electric Urn Set; a combination of small appliances to the value of $30.00 or this amount may be applied by the winner toward the purchase of any electrical appliance.

Within the next few days the judges in the contest will meet and decide upon the winner of the Grand Prize of a $200 Electrical Appliance for the best lighting exhibit in the whole Edison territory.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED OF MISS MARGARET ROSS VAUGHN

At a bridge given on New Year's Day by Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Vaughn, announcement was made of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Ross Vaughn, to Ralph Kottman Behr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Behr, of New York City. Miss Vaughn is a graduate of the Arlington High School, and later attended Skidmore College and the Katharine Gibbs School. Mr. Behr is a graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology, where he was a member of the class of 1926. He belongs to the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, and the Tau Beta Pi society. He is at present associated with the Babcock & Wilcox Company, in New York City.

Arlington Library Takes Account Of Stock

Like the rest of us, the Robbins Library has been taking account of stock this week, with the result that Mrs. Spofford, the librarian, has compiled figures interesting to Arlington residents, and has reached conclusions which will prove valuable to them.

During 1928 nearly one hundred and seventy thousand books were circulated by the library, an increase of about twenty-eight thousand over that of last year and almost a tripling of 1923's circulation of 62,028. Indeed, in the past five years the circulation has gone up by leaps and bounds. In 1925 it increased fifteen thousand over 1924; in 1926, seventeen thousand over the preceding year; in 1927, twenty thousand, and in 1928, twenty-eight thousand.

Of course during that time the population has also increased greatly. However, the book circulation has more than kept pace as in 1926 the per capita circulation was four, while in the past year, estimating the population at thirty thousand, it was between five and six. However, the amount appropriated by the town for the library, while it has been increased, has not grown in proportion either to the population or to the circulation of books, while the staff of the library remains practically the same.

During the year, $4229.48 has been spent for books. A book sponsored by the American Library Association, "Reasonable Budgets for Public Libraries", gives the amount that should be spent on books in a town of thirty thousand as $5,692.50. $500 of this should be used for reference and art books and $1,000 for periodicals and binding. The Association has also determined by investigation that the appropriation for a public library should be at least one dollar per capita of population. When more than this is spent it is shown in an immediate increase of circulation due to the fact that the library is able to secure a wider range of books as well as more attractive volumes. In 1926 Arlington's per capita library income was seventy-one cents and in 1928 it was about the same.

The Arlington library has two branches, or to speak more accurately, rooms where books may be deposited for circulation, in East Arlington and at the Heights. At these branches the circulation in 1928 was 32,472—more than half the total circulation of 1923. The expenses of these branches have never been kept separately but next year it is hoped that they may be separately budgeted. Certainly, plans for the future of the library must include buildings in these sections which will make possible real branches instead of "deposit stations".

Arlington children took almost forty thousand books out of the library during 1928. This department had an anonymous gift of $500 which made possible the purchase of some very attractive books. Perhaps this, together with the story telling hour that was introduced, increased the popularity of the juvenile department. This increase in popularity emphasized the need of larger quarters for the children and made of special interest the plans for an addition containing a children's room and an auditorium, which were exhibited during Children's Book Week.

An item of expense which has increased during the year is the telephone. This is largely because of the inter-library service through which the Arlington library can borrow from a number of public libraries, including those of Boston, Newton and Somerville, books for which patrons ask. Those who wish the book pay the postage on it, but the library pays the telephone tolls, and last Saturday one of the librarians made eight telephone calls before the book asked for was finally located. However, the system enables the library to give so much better service that it is considered to be more than worth what it costs.

Among the great improvements of the past year Mrs. Spofford counts the new desk which has been installed in the hall. It is so large that several librarians can work at it without crowding so that books for several patrons can be taken care of at once. Then, too, its position makes easier access both to catalogue and stacks. And it is the fact that Arlington people find their own books, waiting on themselves after the manner of the Piggly-wiggles, that makes it possible for a staff of seven librarians to serve a population of thirty thousand. Also during 1928 a special effort has been made to keep the books in the best possible condition. Librarians have discovered that their patrons are much more apt to respect a self-respecting book—one whose pages are whole and clean and whose binding is neat. So when the covers begin to fall apart the volume is sent to the binder. The paper labels, which were always untidy in appearance, are also being changed for the stamped numbers as rapidly as is possible.

For the new year Mrs. Spofford has many hopes and plans, which may be summed up in the ambition to have the library grow up to the growing town and to fulfill its greatest possibilities, judging its service, "not by the actual number of books it lends for home reading, but by the number of books it lends for home reading in proportion to the number of people it is supposed to serve", and remembering that its "income is not judged to be adequate or inadequate by the actual number of dollars composing it; but by the number of dollars it receives in proportion to the number of people it is supposed to serve."

The Community Club of Arlington elected a new list of officers at its meeting last evening, January 3, in G. A. R. Hall. They are as follows:—President, William Dean Story; Vice-President, Arthur B. Harlow; Treasurer, Sven A. Lawson; Secretary, Stuart N. Hotelling. The entertainment committee secured a good evening's program, a feature after the business meeting.

BAYBURN DRY CLEANING CO. HOLDS MERRY PARTY

A real Christmas spirit prevailed at the Bayburn Dry Cleaning Company in Arlington when all the employees got together at a "night before Christmas supper" tendered by the manager, Mr. Lawrence P. Bliss.

The guest of honor was Mr. Edwin Bliss, who helped much towards making the evening a success with his witty after dinner speeches and interesting talk on his experiences while abroad, especially his comparison on the dry cleaning methods here and in the old world.

Each member received a suitable gift from a grab bag and the evening's entertainment was furnished by Miss Jane Casey and Miss Anne Horne.

Last but not least—all the employees were presented with a brand new bank book, opening an account with a local bank, in a substantial amount.

ARLINGTON ELKS CELEBRATE THE NEW YEAR WITH BRILLIANT PARTY

There have been many grand good times in Robbins Memorial Town Hall in years gone by, but none in the memory of those who attended, that touched the New Year Party given by the Arlington Lodge of Elks on Monday night, for the committee was untiring in its efforts to give all who attended a jolly time, and they succeeded. It included a banquet, served by the Hardy Catering Company, souvenirs for the ladies, a high class vaudeville from Keith's and dancing.

The committee arranged the tables in night club style, and throughout the evening these tables were available to the holders. This reserved the center of the hall for general dancing and the presentation of the vaudeville numbers. The new year was ushered in with the proper demonstration.

The efficient committee handling the affair was made up of Louis F. Sonia, chairman; John V. L. Kelley, secretary and treasurer; Maurice J. Bartholomew, Thomas S. Duggan, Thomas D. Kennedy, William D. Grannan, William O. Hauser, Cecil M. Hunt, William F. McManus, Edward F. Morrison, Richard L. Powers, John H. Quigley, John E. Rohn, Henry L. Ryan, Martin J. Ryan, Chester L. Stevens and John A. Sweeney.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

The Ice Crop—The "Signs of the times" are now full of promise for a full crop of ice for Spy Pond, and the cheering influence is already being felt. Already the familiar ice tickets are finding their way into the tills of our store keepers, and those who have not had work look much cheerful as they see others employed. A large number of men and horses have been engaged during the past week in hauling off the thin coat of snow and just as their work was being finished it received another coating. The ice is best in quality that has formed on the pond for several years.

New Year's Party. Once a year, and that on New Year's Day, the children connected with the Arlington Unitarian Society enjoy the utmost freedom. They assemble in the vestry in the afternoon, and enjoy themselves with all the games and sports they can think of. The gathering on Wednesday last was no exception to the rule. At five o'clock supper was served to them and then the games were continued until parents or friends admonished the little ones it was time for bed.

More Burglaries.—Some time during last week the summer residence of Mr. J. T. Fairbanks at Arlington Heights was entered by burglars, who carried off copper boilers, lead pipes, pumps, etc., stripping the house completely of everything of this kind.

The scabbles at Arlington Heights are being continued this season, but on a greatly reduced scale, so far as expenses from last season. They are enjoyable, however.

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

Eight and twelve degrees below zero at Arlington Tuesday morning.

Miss Mabel C. Rich will sail from New York on the S.S. Pretoria, January 14th, for Bermuda, to spend the winter.

About seventy, possibly more, attended the morning service at the Baptist church last Sunday. This was indeed a record for such a morning, for aside from the intense cold, and cutting wind, laden with blowing sleet, some of the streets were almost impassable with piled up snowdrifts, which the snow plow did not get around to dig out until somewhat after church time.

Mr. Herbert Peirce, youngest son of Mr. H. B. Peirce, has been spending the holidays with his parents. He has been teaching in a private educational institution just outside of Philadelphia, but has resigned to accept a position on the electric railway construction in the south, with headquarters at Chattanooga, Tenn.

On Saturday, Messrs. Harold Ring and Charles Dwyer went down to Penbrooke to participate in a house party made up of members who have leased a well equipped farm house for the purpose of holding these pleasant gatherings of friends when they so desire.

Many houses on the hill were victims of dark Frost's severe touch this week, and plagues have been reaping the benefit of their discomfort. The new house of Dr. Ring suffered severely, and the family were obliged to vacate and seek shelter at the sanatorium.

Attorney for Mortgagees.

Change Of Ownership

On Saturday, December 29, 1928, the Arlington Advocate, doing business under the firm name of C. S. Parker & Son, at 13a Medford street, was sold to Mr. Harold Blake Wood, of 21 Hutchinson road, Arlington.

Mr. Wood, who is the son-in-law of the late Mr. C. S. Parker, has been acting as manager of the firm since November 1st. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Wood of 25 Lombard road, who represent one of the oldest families in the town, and was born and reared in the town. He graduated from Arlington High School, class of 1897, and of M. I. T., class of 1901. While in High School and college he was prominent in athletics, especially baseball and football.

On November 5, 1902, Mr. Wood married Annabelle Parker, the youngest daughter of the late C. S. Parker, deceased October 28, who, up to his death, was sole owner and publisher of the Arlington Advocate. Mr. Wood, at the time of his marriage, was employed in the William T. Wood Company, manufacturers of ice tools, of which his father was a member, and which occupied the building where is now the Vail Brothers-Mauger Corporation on Massachusetts avenue, just below Grand Army Hall. The young couple began house-keeping at 23 Jason street, where their oldest son, William Parker, was born, January 22, 1905. When Wm. T. Wood & Co. merged into the Gifford-Wood Company of Hudson, New York, Mr. Wood was called to Hudson to have charge of a department. While in that city, Mr. and Mrs. Wood were identified with one of the largest churches in the city, where Mr. Wood was the organist and Mrs. Wood the soprano and director of the choir of the church. Both were active in the civic life of the city. For the past six years Mr. Wood has been vice-president of the American Educational Association, from which he resigned in November to assume the management of the Arlington Advocate with the ultimate view of purchasing it.

He returns to his native town to be one of its citizens, and to carry on a growing enterprise, which has been a part of Arlington for fifty-seven years and which was firmly established by its owner, the late Mr. Parker, and his son, Edgar Dudley Parker—the latter deceased December 18, 1916. Mr. Wood has had a successful business career, and that he has seen fit to sacrifice large returns to take up the Advocate work, so successfully discharged by his predecessors, is a matter for which the townspeople are to be congratulated, for they can rest assured that the high standards of the Advocate will be maintained.

He has already identified himself with the town by his recent purchase of a home. He has become a member of the Arlington Rotary Club, and Chamber of Commerce. He is also a member of the Massachusetts Press Association, the Boston City Club and the Winchester Country Club. The Woods have another son, Leonard Dudley, born in Hudson, N. Y., January 20, 1909, who is a graduate of the Arlington High School, class of 1927, and is of the class of 1930 of Harvard.

Their older son, Parker, of Cornell, class of 1928, is at present employed with Brown & Sharpe of Providence, R. I.

Miss Grace Parker, who has been editor and manager of the business since Mr. Parker's disability two years ago, will continue as editor and to be in charge of the reportorial staff.

Change Of Ownership

On Saturday, December 29, 1928, the Arlington Advocate, doing business under the firm name of C. S. Parker & Son, at 13a Medford street, was sold to Mr. Harold Blake Wood, of 21 Hutchinson road, Arlington.

Mr. Wood, who is the son-in-law of the late Mr. C. S. Parker, has been acting as manager of the firm since November 1st. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Change Of Ownership

On Saturday, December 29, 1928, the Arlington Advocate, doing business under the firm name of C. S. Parker & Son, at 13a Medford street, was sold to Mr. Harold Blake Wood, of 21 Hutchinson road, Arlington.

Mr. Wood, who is the son-in-law of the late Mr. C. S. Parker, has been acting as manager of the firm since November 1st. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Wood of 25 Lombard road, who represent one of the oldest families in the town, and was born and reared in the town. He graduated from Arlington High School, class of 1897, and of M. I. T., class of 1901. While in High School and college he was prominent in athletics, especially baseball and football.

On November 5, 1902, Mr. Wood married Annabelle Parker, the youngest daughter of the late C. S. Parker, deceased October 28, who, up to his death, was sole owner and publisher of the Arlington Advocate. Mr. Wood, at the time of his marriage, was employed in the William T. Wood Company, manufacturers of ice tools, of which his father was a member, and which occupied the building where is now the Vail Brothers-Mauger Corporation on Massachusetts avenue, just below Grand Army Hall. The young couple began house-keeping at 23 Jason street, where their oldest son, William Parker, was born, January 22, 1905. When Wm. T. Wood & Co. merged into the Gifford-Wood Company of Hudson, New York, Mr. Wood was called to Hudson to have charge of a department. While in that city, Mr. and Mrs. Wood were identified with one of the largest churches in the city, where Mr. Wood was the organist and Mrs. Wood the soprano and director of the choir of the church. Both were active in the civic life of the city. For the past six years Mr. Wood has been vice-president of the American Educational Association, from which he resigned in November to assume the management of the Arlington Advocate with the ultimate view of purchasing it.

He returns to his native town to be one of its citizens, and to carry on a growing enterprise, which has been a part of Arlington for fifty-seven years and which was firmly established by its owner, the late Mr. Parker, and his son, Edgar Dudley Parker—the latter deceased December 18, 1916. Mr. Wood has had a successful business career, and that he has seen fit to

A. H. S. ALUMNI WINS BASKETBALL GAME

A. H. S. Alumni, 22; High School, 19. This is the score of the basketball game played between these two teams in the High School gymnasium on last Friday evening, which drew together a large number of fans, whose interest ran high during the game, which was played hard and fast from the first whistle. The High School boys were pitted against an all-star Alumni basketball team, and probably will not be up against a harder game during the remainder of the season.

The game, however, brought out the fact that Arlington High has a championship team in the making. Graduation last June weakened the team some, by breaking up a combination of long standing, but the new material is showing up well.

On the Alumni team were Joe Donahue, now of St. Anselm's Academy, Manchester, N. H.; "Frankie" Keefe, Ralph "Lefty" Stoker, who is now looking for baseball honors; George Lawson, high point maker for M. I. T.; Art Lane, captain-elect of the football team of Exeter, and William "Tim" McNamara, who is now attending Worcester Academy. If a more aggressive aggregation of basketball players can be found around here, we would like to be informed.

The High School boys did all the scoring in the first quarter, which ended seven to nothing in favor of the boys. Driscoll shot a basket after the play opened, and followed this up with shooting a foul. Capt. Lowder caged another basket, and Driscoll followed with another. The Alumni men were a little off their stride in this period. They were playing the same code of signals as the High School team. The second period opened with the Alumni a little more effective. Lawson got a free shot and tallied one point from a foul. Stoker caged the first basket from the floor for his team, and then he got two free baskets from fouls. Donahue and Keefe followed up with baskets. The half ended in a tie, seven to seven. There was plenty of action in this period, for both teams were fighting hard. The Alumni showed some good team work, however, taking big chances with some long shots that were very good.

CAPTAIN BOTT PLAYING FINE HOCKEY FOR DARTMOUTH

CAPT. "MOLLY" BOTT OF DARTMOUTH

The opening of the second half put everyone on their toes, so to speak. The fans were fairly "up in the air" for the playing was hard and fast. There were many fouls called in this period on both teams, but the Alumni had more luck in shooting for the baskets on these free shots. Even the referee got mixed up in the play in this period, and landed in a heap under a pile of players of both sides.

McNamara caged a basket for the Alumni. Friery got two free shots for the High School, from fouls. Joe Donahue got three points from fouls. Stoker got a point from a foul shot, and Donahue caged a basket. Lowder got a free point from a foul. The High School boys were unsuccessful in caging a basket during this period, although they played a wonderful game and came close to scoring many times.

The last quarter showed that the High School boys can fight a good battle, even against heavy odds. The quarter had opened with the score 17 to 10 in favor of the Alumni. Capt. Lowder went after the points, and caged a basket; Ross followed suit a few seconds later. Keefe shot a foul for the Alumni; Capt. Lowder got in another fine basket, and Ross duplicated the trick. The score was then where everyone fairly rose from their seats, for both teams were tied, and for several minutes remained tie. There were many close shots during the interval, that gave the fans a real thrill. At the close of the quarter Joe Donahue caged a basket, that sent the Alumni ahead again. McNamara and Donahue each shot a basket from fouls, that brought the score to 22; then Friery shot a foul as the last minute of the game came, which brought his team to 19.

The preliminary game was between the Junior Varsity and the Boy's Club, the latter, former High School players on second and third teams. The varsity was defeated 21 to 9.

SPORT NOTES

Knights of Columbus

There were a number of changes in the standing of the bowlers in the Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus Bowling League as a result of the matches rolled on Thursday evening, December 27, on the Regent and Arlington Alleys. There were no high scores, but some of the teams that had been climbing toward the top of the league received a bad setback. The matches resulted as follows: Zevs won all four points from the Associates; Old Timers won four from the Heaphies; Post Office four from the Auctioneers; Pals, four from the Lakeviews; Wacos, four from the Fusiliers; St. Pats, three from the Eleos, and the Fillers won three from the Bruins.

The high wind on Sunday broke up what little ice there was on Spy Pond. This may be a blessing in disguise, for there were many who were venturing on the thin ice and so, taking desperate chances.

The annual Alumni-High School ice hockey game scheduled for Tuesday morning had to be called off as there was no ice. There were many college men home who in the past have played on the former High School teams. There was a good game promised, but the rain interfered.

The Advocate is indebted to the Boston Herald for the above cut of one of Arlington's sons, which appeared in its Sunday edition, with a story of "Molly", which we reprint. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Bott of 47 Irving street. [Ed.]

Capt. George Morrill "Molly" Bott, Dartmouth goaltender, up to last night had had one goal scored against him in three games. His work in the green cage has been one of the chief factors in victory for two seasons. At present he leads the college goalers of the East on his record.

He is an Arlington boy and played his first hockey on Spy Pond. He went to Dartmouth from Exeter and played goal on the freshman team.

His first opportunity to play for the varsity was in Boston Arena two years ago in the spectacular tie game with Harvard. Sherman started in the Dartmouth net and Harvard slipped two quick goals by him and thus obtained a commanding lead. It was obvious that Sherman was going to have a bad night, so he was taken out and Bott was sent in.

From that point to the finish, Harvard's alternating forward line rained shot after shot at the green goal and Bott stopped them all long and short, while the other Dartmouth players got the two goals necessary to tie the game. It ended at two-all after a long and hard-fought contest.

Bott has been in the Dartmouth goal ever since. Last year his work was so good that he was elected to the captaincy. This season, up to last night, he had participated in three games, against Boston College, McGill and Nichols Club of Buffalo, and the only goal scored against him was registered by Capt. Ralph St. Germain of McGill.

The latter got past the defense and beat Bott from a commanding position. McGill and the green will meet again at the Garden, Monday night, and Bott will give St. Germain individual attention this time.

HELEN SMAIL SINGS AT HARDY SCHOOL PARTY

The Christmas observance of the Hardy School took place on Wednesday, December 19, when six hundred pupils gathered in the assembly hall and under the direction of Miss Grace Pierce, supervisor of music in the Arlington Schools, sang Christmas carols. As a part of the program, Miss Helen Smail sang two Christmas carols, which interested Miss Pierce so much that Miss Smail, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Smail of 25 Melrose street, was requested by Miss Pierce to sing before her Boston University Extension class on "Child Voice" in charge of Miss Pierce. She sang at the class on Saturday, the 22nd.

GET COAL FOR NOTHING - PAY FOR IT IN COURT

Eight Arlington men, who, on the night of December 10, entered the property of the Boston & Maine Railroad at Lake street, this town, and carried off a small quantity of coal, were in the Third District Court at East Cambridge, Saturday morning, December 29th, charged with larceny. They were found guilty, and Judge Walcott said that if they made restitution he would place their cases on file. The men were quick to accept the offer and paid the money to a representative of the railroad company who was in court.

ARLINGTON GAS LIGHT COMPANY HOLD NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Arlington Gas Light Company Employees held a New Year's party in Ye Lantern Bungalow last Friday evening, December 28, when a large representation of the employees and their friends were in attendance. Dancing was the main feature of the evening. The solos sung by David Scanlon, Davis Thomas and B. E. Cass were very much enjoyed and interspersed the dancing numbers. Miss Helen Sullivan accompanied the singing. Ahern's Orchestra, made up of local members, furnished the music for the dancing. Novelty dances added a bit to the evening's enjoyment. The elimination waltz was won by Mr. James Snow and Miss Alice Allyn.

The committee who arranged the evening's program was Messrs. L. B. Langton, Thomas and Lopez, Miss Alice Murray and Miss Helen Haley.

ARLINGTON LOCALS

=Sunday, Robert Vernon of 94 Davis street, West Somerville, stepped off an electric car on Mass. avenue. He was hit by a truck owned by the Whiting Milk Company, but he was only slightly injured.

=Rev. John Nicol Mark spoke on Wednesday evening at the Guest Night of the Hyde Park Current Events Club. He was also guest and speaker at a joint meeting of the Lyons and Rotary Clubs of Taunton on Thursday.

=Traffic Officer James Flynn came across an abandoned automobile on Warren street, near Medford street, Sunday. On consulting a list of numbers of stolen cars, which he had in his hat, he found that the machine was the property of Porter Bancroft of Lynn.

=Beatrice Ahern, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Ahern of 20 Beacon street, was hit by an automobile Sunday afternoon while crossing Palmer street. The machine was driven by Robert R. Waters of 54 Parris street, Medford. The child was only slightly injured and was taken home.

=The Arlington Visiting Nurses Association will hold a bridge at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association on Thursday, January 24th, at 2.30. A food sale will be held in connection with the bridge.

=Chief of Police Urquhart is asking the Advocate to assist him in locating the owner of four school boxes that are marked Robert, Helen, Frances and Mary Foley. These boxes are at the police station, where they can be secured.

=One of the large cement ornaments on the roof of the Finance block, 475 Mass. avenue, broke off Monday morning, and but for the timely discovery of Officer James Flynn, someone might have been badly hurt. The traffic officer saw the ornament laying on its side and dangerously close to the edge of the roof. The sidewalk was roped off until the dapper was removed.

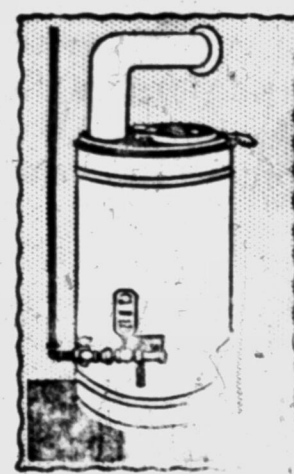

=Mrs. W. E. Fowler entertained a group of friends at her home, 1074 Mass. avenue, with a New Year's party last Friday evening, December 28th, when some twenty guests from Arlington, Cambridge, Winchester and Medford were entertained. The Christmas decorations were used. Gifts were exchanged and music and a general social time was participated in. At the close of the evening a buffet luncheon was served.

=The first Sunday in the New Year is the Annual Guest Sunday at the First Parish. The members and adherents are requested to bring a guest at the morning service, preferably someone who is not interested in any church in town. A special feature of the service will be the appearance of Mr. Cleon E. Hopkins, well known trumpeter, who will play two selections. Mr. Mark will preach a sermon appropriate to the New Year.

=The value of a sprinkler system in a building was shown Monday night when what might have been a serious fire was averted in the laundry on Mystic street. Patrolman Piggot, who lives near the laundry, heard a bell ringing, and knowing that this was out of the ordinary, called the Police Headquarters. Patrolman Thomas White happened along, and with Piggot went into the building, where they found that a pile of clothes had ignited. The heat had started the sprinkler system, with the result that the fire was extinguished.

CANDY FOR SUNDAY

In the good old days when the Sunday buggy-ride was a national institution a young man made a real impression when he arrived with a box of "store" candy under his arm. More often "sis" or mother or even dad spent an hour in the kitchen making fudge or taffy—and it was good candy usually. Nowadays when the boy friend dashes up to the curb in his sport roadster with a box of Blake's candy it is a real treat—for it is good candy—ALWAYS.

shaw Missionary Association, the Orthodox Congregational church, and the Friendly Folk. There were also gifts in gold, amounting to over one hundred dollars, this including a substantial sum from the Boston Wool Trade Association, for Mr. Kidder has been a special wool market writer for the Boston Transcript since 1912. There were also many cards and telegrams, some coming from across the water.

Mr. and Mrs. Kidder were married in Boston Highlands on the last day of 1878. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Samuel J. Barrows, a personal friend, editor of the Christian Register and afterward a Member of Congress. The ceremony was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Moody. Mr. Moody then being commercial editor of the Boston Herald. Mr. Kidder succeeding to his position in 1902. He came to Boston in the Centennial year and has been active in printing and newspaper circles ever since.

Mrs. Kidder is a graduate of Emerson College of Oratory, and on Monday received a message from Dean Ross. For many years she served on the board of directors of the Boston North End Mission. She was one of the founders of the Arlington Woman's Club. Mr. and Mrs. Kidder have been active in temperance circles. Mr. Kidder has served as moderator of the Orthodox Congregational church, and is a member of the board of deacons. He also served as superintendent of the Sunday School, was president of its first Christian Endeavor Society, and held various offices in county and state Christian Endeavor organizations. The Kidders have one other son, Henry D., connected with the Massachusetts Gas Company. An interesting souvenir of their wedding was one of the announcement cards of their marriage, and newspapers containing the marriage notice.

TEEL—ROLFE

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Rolfe, of 54 Irving street, January 1st, their daughter, Miss Helen Howes Rolfe, became the wife of Mr. Bernard G. Teel, of 73 Jason street, son of the late Rev. William H. Teel, of Brookline, Mass. and Mrs. Teel. The ceremony, which was at 3.30 p. m., was performed by Rev. Edward Allen Morris, minister of the Orthodox Congregational church, where Mr. Teel is a deacon, and where the bride and her parents are prominent.

There were present only the immediate families of the couple, and a very few intimate friends of the bride, who made an attractive picture in a blue velvet costume and bouquet of valley lilies. Her only attendant was her little niece, "Judy" Rolfe, of New Haven, Conn., who wore a frock of blue crepe and carried pink roses. Mr. Teel was attended by his son, Ross. A semi-circle of palms made an effective setting for the wedding party, while the lovely music of Miss Katharine Yerrinton, pianist, and Laura H. Kelly, violinist, added to the service, which was the single ring.

The bride is a prominent member of the R. D. Club, and connected with many of the civic organizations in the town. She is a graduate of the Berkley Kindergarten School of Cambridge. Mr. Teel, a Yale graduate, is a bank specialist with the Burroughs Adding Machine Company.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Teel will be at home after March first at 73 Jason street.

party New Year's Eve to the members of the Church of our Saviour. Cards and games were played for an hour and a half, when refreshments were served. The gathering then adjourned to the church, where after a short service, the Bixby spoke, emphasizing the fact that those who trust in the Lord have nothing to fear through the coming year. He also gave advice on keeping New Year's resolutions.

A Christmas is a time of reunion, a time when distance is no barrier to reach the homefolk. Just one of many such reunions took place at the home of Mrs. James Fraser on Christmas night. A party of twelve, who came from the South, West and North, celebrated the Yuletide in the good old English way. A real spirit of Christmas was felt and reflected by all, when presents were distributed, coupled with "Guest-like" verses, written by the hostess. We feel that many such groups enjoyed themselves in much the same old fashioned way. May it always continue.

*Mrs. W. E. Mahoney entertained her card club at a delightful luncheon, followed by bridge, at her home, 41 Cleveland street, Wednesday. Christmas decorations were a feature of the luncheon. The prize winners were Miss Anna Crane, first; Mrs. George Hucks, second; Mrs. Harold Rogers, consolation.

*Members of the Girls' Friendly have started rehearsals for a play, which they will give in February. There will be nineteen in the cast. Miss Muir and Miss Hutchinson are directing the production.

*The young people of the Church of our Saviour will give an Epiphany pageant Sunday evening in the church. It will be similar to the Christmas pageant except that Epiphany hymns will be used. Miss Muir is in charge of this, as she was of the first one.

*Members of the Ladies' Guild of the church of our Saviour were given a surprise banquet at their annual meeting Wednesday evening, by their president, Mrs. Edward Colby, whose birthday it was. As soon as the twenty-five ladies present found out why Mrs. Colby was the help of her husband, had the table set, they put their heads together and sent the Rev. Warren N. Bixby to a florist's with the result that when Mrs. Colby was re-elected she, in her turn, was surprised with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Mr. Bixby, in a brief speech, praised the work that the Guild had done. Mrs. Colby's fellow officers were re-elected. They were Mrs. Cecil Hunt, vice-president; Miss Carrie Hutchinson, secretary; and Mrs. Alice Goode, treasurer.

Extracts From Journals Of Local Forty-Niners

[Compiled from the diary of Stephen P. Blake, by William E. Wood, for the files of The Arlington Historical Society.]

Stephen P. Blake Takes Up Farming,
Spring of 1850.

March 16, 1850. "Our winter has gone. Spring opens beautifully. The grass is green and the plains are covered with beautiful flowers. I have now changed my abode." (Mr. Blake has been at Nicholas since his companions, Fessenden, Frost and Hill left for the Yuba mines, Jan. 12.) "and am quartered, 1½ miles below Nicholas, on the East bank of the Feather River. My present occupation is gardening. From ploughing the sea, I have taken to ploughing the land. I have almost every kind of garden stuff, as well as corn and potatoes in a larger field."

"There is a small sparrow, here, that is very destructive. What they cannot scratch up, they pull up as soon as a sprout makes its appearance above ground. I have a small Indian boy constantly in the garden from daylight to dark; but he needs stirring up, occasionally. I have some few Indians at work with me. I am on a farm owned by Nicholas Alger, German by birth, but who has been in America for upwards of 20 years. He lived a while in the Western States; then went into the Rocky Mountains, where he followed trapping and hunting for 9 years; then to Oregon for a few months; and finally came here, 10 years ago, when this country was under the Mexican flag. He has lived almost alone since then, for there were few white people here, and most of those were 15 miles away. Indians were numerous, but they were not troublesome, as they were kept in fear of Capt. Sutter."

"I am not troubled with neighbors! There is a small yule-house about 20 yards from my camp, in which are 10 or 15 Indians; but they are quiet, and mind their own business. They are employed on the farm, and in herding cattle and horses. I am not afraid to leave the tent, even though the Indians are brought up to consider that stealing is a virtue. Could some of the children, at home, live here a short time, and see how these red men live, and see their children, they would be thankful that they were born in such a land as New England. They would then appreciate the privileges they enjoy, of which they are not sensible now."

"I received two letters today—one from brother Nelson, dated July 22, 1849; and one from Mr. Hart bearing date of Oct. 27, 1849." (Mr. Henry Hart was Mr. Blake's brother-in-law, husband of Stephen's oldest sister, Mary Ann. She died a few days after this letter was written.) "It is pleasant to hear from home, even tho' the news be sad. It is hard to be separated from our dearest friends."

"Not long ago, I got a Boston Journal in my hands, and by looking over the shipping news, I was surprised to see, as passengers in the ship 'Leopard', William Whittemore of W. Cambridge, and Ambrose Blood of Lexington, both old schoolmates of mine. I should be happy to meet them in this country."

"Nicholas has had a town laid out and has called it 'Nicholaus'. The main street is 'Washington St.', and one is called 'Olas St.', after the old Indian Chief. Some of the lots have been sold, and Mr. N. has moved his cattle, horses, etc., to this place, 1½ miles below, where he has built a corral and a house for fowls. He has also built a house for himself, 18 ft. x 30 ft., of the cottage order, with a porch, 8 ft. wide, running the full length of the house. It is painted white, and has green shutters. It is altogether the prettiest house I have seen in this country."

"A few days ago, looking down the river, I saw a Sail! I could hardly believe my eyes, at first, but there she was, coming up the river under full sail! She was a Hermaphrodite Brig." (Mr. Blake would not apply the word "sail" to a schooner. The craft would need to be a square-rigger.) "I thought I had got so far into the country that I should not see nor hear from salt water; but there was no mistaking the craft. It reminded me of the 'Pauline', and of leaving home. It proved to be the Brig 'Emily & Jane', loaded with Government stores for Camp Far-West."

Mr. Blake describes, in much detail, how a friend of his, named Charles Brown, who had $10,000 in "dust", on his person, went out with two companions, on some trip which required the crossing of several streams, going and coming. The two men, only, returned to camp. They were leading Brown's horse, and said that Brown was drowned, crossing a certain stream which was not nearly as dangerous as some of the others. Brown's body was found where they pointed out, and was immediately buried by the party, without having "any jury see over it." Mr. Blake writes that their stories were incoherent, and that he has no doubt that the man was the victim of foul play, as one observer said he saw a wound. (We have often wondered how miners could go safely about with 50 lbs. or more of gold dust distributed about their clothing—for such a bulk must be obvious to any practiced eye.)

April 14, 1850. "Steamboats and launches are now almost constantly passing up or down. Some 15 or 20 squared-rigged craft have passed here. The water has been unusually high on account of the great quantity of snow which fell in the mountains during the past winter. I am told that, in many ravines, the snow covered the tall trees completely. People are going to the mines very fast. The news from the mines is good, and the quantity of gold brought down is much greater than last year. Many Companies are formed for turning the river in various places. The greater part of the miners go up in steamboats as far as Marysville, and then take teams, or pack, as the case may be. But a very few months ago there had never been a steamboat up the river." (Mr. Fessenden's letter, written in January, 1850, published in the Advocate of Mar. 23, 1928, has this:—"There was a steamboat started on the river which knocked us all in the head." "We got rid of our boat." The unusually high water made possible the navigation of the river by steamboats and by large vessels. The gold rush was now striking its speediest pace!")

HOLY NAME SOCIETIES TO HOLD NEW YEAR SERVICE

Next Sunday afternoon at 3.00 o'clock, the Holy Name Societies of St. Agnes church, and St. James church of this town; St. Raphael's of West Medford, Immaculate Conception of North Cambridge, and St. Brigid's of Lexington, will hold a union service, continuing a practice established several years ago, on the first Sunday of the new year. These meetings are open to the public, and consist of a sermon and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

ADELPHIAN MEN'S CLASS PRESENT GIFTS OF GOLD

On Sunday, December 30, the Adelpian Men's Class of Trinity Baptist church held an enthusiastic session with a very large attendance. A number of guests were introduced and greeted with great applause. At the close of the lesson period, Rev. James E. Norcross and Mr. Geo. Ed. Rogers, associate teachers, were given a great surprise.

In a happy vein the president, Mr. Homer Grover, presented each with a gift of gold and a box of sweets for their wives. Both responded with words of grateful appreciation of the good will of the class.

The class is enjoying an era of unprecedented prosperity.

CHRISTMAS SEALS AID FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

Each year the Southern Middlesex Health Camp is asked the question why the sale of the Christmas Seal is continued when the general mortality from tuberculosis has been so greatly reduced. In answer, Dr. MacCorison, president, says that although there has been a great reduction in the general mortality from tuberculosis the fact remains that at the age period between eighteen and thirty, and especially among women, the number of deaths from tuberculosis is higher than from pneumonia, cancer, heart and kidney diseases together. Therefore the association is continuing its aggressive campaign against the disease. "Our association is making a serious effort to reach this age group and to find the early cases of tuberculosis," says Dr. MacCorison.

The placement, through its secretary, has found suitable employment for many patients during the year, and our information bureau, with a public health nurse in charge, is called upon many times each day to give advice on clinics and institutions to which patients may go for physical examinations and care.

Through our clinics for children and our health camp we are laying the foundation for healthy childhood and healthy adulthood. In our health camp we provide care for children who have been exposed to and already are infected with tuberculosis. We have a follow-up nurse who visits the children after they are discharged to their home, and teaches parents their care. We know that the Summer Health Camp and its follow-up work will do much to prevent these children from developing tuberculosis in after life.

—Mrs. William A. Muller of this town was among the prominent women who presided over the tea table at the holiday tea given Monday afternoon by the Radcliffe College Alumnae Association, in Agassiz House, Cambridge. Arlington was well represented at the tea.

ST. AGNES CHILDREN HAVE CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas tree exercises of the children of St. Agnes Parish was held in the school hall on Sunday afternoon, with the hall filled to its capacity. Rev. Matthew J. Flaherty and his assistants, Rev. Joseph P. Murphy and Rev. Donald P. Simpson, assisted by the Sisters of St. Agnes Convent, had general charge of the party, which began with a playlet. Then came a moving picture show. Santa Claus was on hand to say a few words to the children. Candy was distributed among the children at the close of the program. A large Christmas tree occupied one corner of the stage, gaily decorated and illuminated—the work of members of the Tabernacle Society. It was a happy time for all who attended.

JOSEPH WARREN COLEMAN
HAS A BIRTHDAY PARTY

A pretty birthday party was enjoyed by twelve children in honor of Joseph Warren Coleman's fifth birthday, last Friday, December 28th, at his home, 98 Medford street.

The decorations were green, red and white, appropriate for the Christmas season. Games were enjoyed, and great excitement was made over the prizes, which were won by Joseph MacDonald and Claire Coleman. The boobies going to John Good and Philip Coleman, Jr.

After a dainty luncheon was served from a most attractive table, all departed with their favors and candy baskets.

MRS. THOMPSON'S LUNCHEON
BRIDGE TO MRS. H. H. HUNTER

On Friday of last week Mrs. Francis Thompson gave a luncheon bridge at the Thompson residence, 208 Pleasant street, to Mrs. Harry H. Hunter, of 216 Pleasant street, who sailed on the Steamer La France, for an extended European tour, in company with Mrs. Walker of Cambridge.

The luncheon of eighteen covers was a charming affair. In the center of the table was a miniature ship, the exact replica of the steamer on which Mrs. Hunter was to sail, in white and black, and including even the tiny sailors and officers.

Corsage bouquets of red roses and dainty place cards added to the festive appearance of the dining table. The varied-colored handkerchiefs that were stowed away on board ship and produced at the proper time to wave bon voyage to the guest of honor, was one of Mrs. Thompson's clever and original thoughts, that added zest to the party.

Later bridge was provided for the entertainment of the guests, with lovely prizes for the winner at each table.

Deaths

MRS. ELIZABETH A. HICKEY

Mrs. Elizabeth Agnes (Griffin) Hickey, widow of Martin Hickey, who before his death three years ago was postmaster of Grafton for 48 years, died of a heart attack Friday, December 28th, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. Norcross Stratton, at 11 Trowbridge street. Mrs. Hickey came to Arlington a week ago to spend Christmas, and her death was sudden and unexpected.

Mrs. Hickey was born in Charlestown, P. E. I., 69 years ago, the daughter of William and Ann (McCarron) Griffin. She had lived in Grafton for 45 years. She was a devout member of St. Philip's Church there and had long been an active worker in the church. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Stratton, Mrs. Hickey is survived by a son, Frederick M. Hickey of Grafton; a sister, Mrs. James Brown of Grafton, and a brother, Frank Griffin of Providence.

The funeral was held Monday morning from her home in Grafton. A high mass of requiem, was celebrated in St. Philip's church there at 9.30 o'clock. Burial was in St. Philip's Cemetery.

MRS. FRANCES MERRICK

On Thursday of last week, Mrs. Frances Merrick died in Payson Park, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fuller. Mrs. Merrick was the widow of Theodore B. Merrick, one of the original movers in the religious movement at Arlington Heights. Her two daughters—one in Hollywood—the other in this region, both—fortunately—were with her in her brief sickness to the last. Mrs. Merrick was a woman of distinguished ability. Since her husband's death she has been out of town, but her name lingers at the Heights.

Rev. John G. Taylor, an old friend of the family, conducted the funeral service, speaking of her many qualities. Thus one of Arlington's old residents passed beyond; yet not beyond "the love and care of God."

The burial was in Wyoming Cemetery, Melrose, beside her husband.

ARLINGTON LOCALS

—The Christmas musical program was repeated in St. Agnes church on last Sunday.

—New Year's Day, the Feast of the Circumcision, was celebrated in St. James and St. Agnes church, with masses the same as on Sunday.

—Charles W. Allen, 2nd, and grandson of Charles W. Allen, president of Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, came from St. Louis to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Allen of Acton. On Christmas day there was a family party at the Allen residence on Jaso street. Charles, who is also the grandson of Mrs. Omar W. Whittemore, is in the production department of the International Shoe Company of St. Louis.

—Announcement is made of the engagement of Helen Frances Farr to Gilbert J. McKenna, Jr. Miss Farr is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Farr, late of Everett street, but now living in West Somerville.

—Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus, is planning a big meeting for next Tuesday evening. The committee in charge of the attendance has offered a prize of $25 for that evening, which no doubt will bring out a large number. The council is making arrangements for the annual visitation of Supreme Deputy John Daly, who comes here on Tuesday evening, January 29.

—The high wind on Sunday broke up what little ice there was on Spy Pond. This may be a blessing in disguise, for there were many who were venturing on the thin ice and so, taking desperate chances.

—Miss G. Beryl Moody, a teacher in Orleans High School, and Miss Muriel E. Moody, a teacher in Groton High School, spent Christmas with their parents. Miss Muriel Moody left Wednesday of last week for New York and Philadelphia, where she is going to visit college friends.
